Job of the week

Air Cabin Crew

<https://www.prospects.ac.uk/job-profiles/air-cabin-crew>

As a cabin crew member, you'll provide excellent customer care to passengers while ensuring their comfort and safety throughout the flight. You'll serve refreshments and meals and will also sell gifts and duty-free items to passengers.

Qualifications:

- ✓ GCSE - grade 4 or above in English and maths
- ✓ Over 18 or 21 depending on the airline

Working hours: Cabin crew work shifts, which usually involves irregular and unsocial hours. This can mean working early mornings, through the night, at weekends and on public holidays.

Salary: Starting salary = £12,000 to £14,000. Some experience = £15,000 to £19,000. Senior cabin crew = £20,000 to £23,000.

Labour market information

Growth in employees' average total pay (including bonuses) was 5.5% and growth in regular pay (excluding bonuses) was 5.2% in May to July 2022. In real terms (adjusted for inflation), over the year, total pay fell by 2.6% and regular pay fell by 2.8%. Average regular pay growth for the private sector was 6.0% in May to July 2022, and 2.0% for the public sector; outside of the height of the coronavirus pandemic period, this is the largest difference we have seen between the private sector and public sector.

T-levels

https://tlevelinfo.org.uk/?utm_source=Search&utm_medium=CPC&utm_campaign=Agree&utm_content=AdWords

T-levels are new, government-backed, career focused qualifications for 16 to 19-year olds. They're equivalent to three A-levels and are also backed by hundreds of British businesses, who helped to design the courses. T-levels are offered by many schools and colleges across England and offer your child an ideal first step into their future career. As of September 2022, there are 16 different T-levels to choose from, with even more being made available from September 2023. Each two-year course has been designed with employers from multiple sectors and combines classroom study with a 45-day industry placement to prepare your child for the world of work, or further study like a higher level apprenticeship or university.

Spotlight

Employer: GlaxoSmithKline

GSK is a global biopharma company with new ambitions and new purpose: to unite science, technology and talent to get ahead of disease together. They recruit and develop outstanding people - people who believe in their purpose, live their culture and want to help them achieve their ambition. GSK expect managers to motivate, focus, develop and care for their teams, and they recognise, celebrate and reward success. Above all, GSK create a place where people can grow, be their best, be safe, and feel welcome, valued and included.
